To May 1, potato shipments over the Bangor & Aroostook railroad aggregate 9,834,677 bushels. The total shipment in 1910 amounting to but 9,362,842 bushels. Last week potatoes brought $1 to $1.25 per barrel at Aroostook county points. This is about double the price of a year ago.

The new Congressional Directory shows that all of the 394 members of the House but ten are foreign born, three in Ireland, two in Germany, and one each in Nova Scotia, Ontario, Scotland, Bohemia and Austria-Hungary. Of the upper branch three are foreign born—three in England, two in Canada, one in Ireland and one in Norway.

First step in a movement to bring the Republican National Convention to Chicago in 1912, were taken Friday by the board of directors of the Cook county central committee at its annual meeting. Resolutions were passed requesting the Republican national committee to pick Chicago as the next convention city and urging the national committee from Illinois, Frank O. Lowden, to use his influence to that end.

J. G. Phelps Stokes, a famous Socialist who spoke in this city a few years ago, at the Knickerbocker club in New York, was praising the various country week associations that are already preparing to give the children of the poor brief country vacation. "The little unchins," said Mrs. Phelps Stokes, "enjoy these, healthful holidays, and wonderful are the remarks that the country's strangeness draws from their young lips. One August afternoon a tiny East Sider, pointed to a farmer's herds in a shaggy meadow, asked: 'Where does the farmer get all the churning gum for his cows?'"

PICKED BY PLAISTED

W. H. Simmons, New Chairman of Registration Board, Was Once Nominated for Governor—Too Independent for Some Democrats—Ensign Otis is Maine's Youngest Coroner.

Few men identified with public affairs in Eastern Maine today can claim such a widely varied political career as William H. Simmons, one time nominee for governor, who has just been appointed chairman of the local registration board.

Ever since he broke away from the Republican party back in the early seventies he has been an independent in the strongest sense of the word, and his habit today of voting for whom he considers the strongest men, regardless of the ticket which bears their names, is so uncompromising that his appointment to the chairmanship of the registration board has shocked some members of the Democratic party.

The position was not sought by Mr. Simmons, and he was not even aware of the existence of the petition which asked it, until a formal letter from Gov. Plaisted acquainted him with the fact that it was on file in the executive department.

Mr. Simmons was born in Nobleboro March 8, 1842, a son of Josiah and Rachel (Bentley) Simmons. His grandfather owned the large tract of land, which afterward became known far and wide as Nobleboro camp ground.

When he was a child of 3 his father moved to Union and opened a general store. Henry, as the subject of this sketch is better known, went there at the age of 14, and clerked in the store five years.

May 12, 1861, he enlisted in Co. H, (Capt. George Burns' company) 4th Maine Regiment. The spirit of insubordination had begun to take root in him even at that youthful age, for he was one of 97 dissatisfied soldiers who went by transfer Sept. 23, 1861, to the 38th New York Regiment. This was a two-years' regiment, and at the expiration of its service Mr. Simmons went back to the 4th Maine. So far as he knows there are but two other survivors of the regiment who saw service in the two regiments, John Stahl of Limerock street, this city, and John H. Thomas of Union, a former deputy sheriff.

Forty-nine years ago this month Mr. Simmons was wounded in the right side of a piece of shell, at the battle of Williamsburg, and was removed to the Columbia College hospital in Washington. Other famous battles which found him under fire were Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Wilderness, Spottsylvania court house and Cold Harbor.

He was captured at Gettysburg July 3, 1863, and consigned to Libby Prison. He remained there only a few days, however, before being transferred to Belle Isle, where he remained until October, when he was taken to the second Alabama hospital, so-called, in Richmond. He was exchanged with 380 other sick soldiers and was back in the Union ranks in season to participate in Grant's campaign of the Wilderness.

He was relieved from service on the march to Petersburg, and discharged July 19, 1864.

After the war he was again on Southern soil, but this time on the more peaceful mission of cutting ship timber for Payson & Mehan of Thomaston. During the summer time he worked in a Thomaston shipyard. From there he went back to Union, bought a sawmill and operated it with his father several years.

Going to Waltham, Mass., he worked at different periods, covering eight years, as foreman of a large lumber mill.

His residence in this city dates back 31 years, 20 of which were spent in connection with the lime industry. Six years he was at the Blackington Farm Quarry by the creek. This quarry passed into other hands when it was purchased by the Penobscot Bay syndicate and afterwards merged into the Rockland-Rockport Lime Co.

Since that time Mr. Simmons, in company with Charles Fales, has been in the general contracting business, engaged in extensive sewer jobs in various parts of the state, blasting for railroad construction. This firm has built most of the concrete sidewalks which have been laid in this city and vicinity for several years.

When Mr. Simmons came out of the army he affiliated with the Republican party. President Grant's veto of the bill for equalization of soldiers' bounties converted him into an independent. As such he remained until the organization of the Knights of Labor.

He was master workman of the local branch six years, and when the Union-Labor party was formed he was nominated at Waterville as its candidate for governor.

When the Populist party was formed at St. Louis he was a delegate from Maine representing the Knights of Labor. In that notable convention were men of such national fame as "Socksless Jerry" Simpson, Thomas Watson, T. V. Pedderly, John Davis, Mary Ellen Lease of Kansas was a delegate. Frances E. Willard was refused admission as a delegate, but was admitted to the convention hall in the capacity of a secretary. James B. Weaver was nominated for the Presidency, and received 24 electoral votes.

Mr. Simmons affiliated with the Populist party until Bryan made his famous "crown of thorns" speech in the Democratic national convention of 1896. The Bryan idea and Democratic platform contained so much that was in keeping with Populist theories that the Populist party merged with it, although in the light of subsequent events Mr. Simmons is not so certain that the Populists were not mistaken in thus yielding up their identity.

Be that as it may the new chairman of the Rockland registration board has remained in the classification of Democrat and has a goodly share in the local activities of that party. He has served in both branches of the city government, and has been a member of the Democratic city and county committees. He was chairman of the city committee when Bryan made his famous speech from the court house steps. He has been minority member of the registration board about six years.

Mr. Simmons is a past commander of Edwin Libby Post, G. A. R., has been assistant inspector general for the Department of Maine, and was one of the organizers of Davis Tillson Command.

U. V. U. He was made a Mason in Union Lodge, F. A. M.

Ensign Otis, who has just been nominated for coroner by Gov. Plaisted, is the youngest man in the state holding that office.

The new coroner is a son of Oliver Otis, editor and proprietor of the Rockland Opinion, and Representative to the last Legislature. He was born in this city Sept. 7, 1884, and educated in the public schools, graduating from Bowdoin college in 1908.

His career there was marked by literary activities. He was editor and manager of the Bowdoin Quill, and contributed short stories and poems to that and other publications. In the senior year he won the Hawthorne short story prize. He was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. During his college course he also taught school in a Brunswick district.

For the past three years he has been a member of the editorial staff of the Opinion. He is senior warden of Rockland Lodge, F. A. M., and has been warden of Limerock Lodge, N. E. O. P.

LOTS OF LOBSTERS

Fred B. Higgins and party returned to Boothbay Harbor Monday from Clark's Harbor, N. S., with the biggest load of lobsters ever brought into that port, consisting of more than 7000 crustaceans of legal length. The trip was made in the power boat Higco, owned by the Higgins Co., the party being gone less than a week. Considering that Clark's Harbor is 160 miles east of Monhegan Island, the trip is considered one of the quickest and most successful on record. The lobsters were placed in the Higgins' pond at the Harbor. Lobsters are reported to be more plentiful along the Maine coast than they have been for some time.

FOR MAINE 1920

Committees Named To Arrange For State's Centennial Celebration.

In 1920 Maine intends to celebrate the 100th anniversary of its admission into the Union. The idea of celebrating this event originated with the State Board of Trade and suggestions for the promotion of the "Maine, 1920" campaign have been made by Prof. Robert J. Sprague of the University of Maine.

Wednesday forenoon, the first session of the committee appointed by C. J. Callahan of Lewiston, president of the State Board of Trade, was held in Lewiston. Members of the committee are: Harry Manser, Auburn; E. C. Carll, Augusta; E. M. Blanding and J. R. Sprague, Bangor; J. F. Goldwaite, Biddeford; N. G. Jackson, Bath; George W. Furbush, Lewiston; H. E. Plummer, Lisbon Falls; H. W. Spratt, Gorham; S. J. Foster, Oakland; F. E. Boothby, C. F. Flagg and L. A. Goudy, Portland; James Donahue, Rockland; Dr. H. A. Weymouth, Saco; L. G. Gerry, Sanford; Roy L. Marston, Skowhegan; O. G. K. Robinson, Westbrook; Carl Rust Park, Yarmouth; Dr. L. G. Bunker and Hon. W. T. Haines, Waterville.

Officers were chosen as follows: chairman, F. E. Boothby, Portland; Sec., J. R. Sprague, Bangor; Treas., E. M. Blanding, Bangor. It was voted that all meetings of the committee be held at the State capital, except when the state board of trade is in session and then the committee will meet in the same place.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Boothby, Callahan, Blanding and Sprague, was authorized to name the seven sub-committees of three members each. It is intended to conduct the campaign along certain lines and each committee will have charge of one subject on which it is hoped to educate the public. It was also voted that the chairman of the seven committees, when named, should constitute the executive committee. The following sub-committees were announced:

Agriculture—E. C. Carll, Augusta; H. W. Spratt, Gorham; Geo. W. Furbush, Lewiston.

Civic and social—C. F. Flagg, Portland; Carl R. Parker, Yarmouth; Harry Manser, Auburn.

Conservation and development—W. T. Haines, Waterville; Roy L. Marston, Skowhegan; L. A. Goudy, Portland.

Education and religion—R. J. Sprague, Bangor; D. J. Callahan, Lewiston; L. G. Bunker, Waterville.

Industries—H. E. Plummer, Lisbon Falls; James Donahue, Rockland; G. Gerrish, Sanford; O. G. K. Robinson, Westbrook.

Resorts—E. M. Blanding, Bangor; J. F. Goldwaite, Biddeford; H. A. Weymouth, Saco.

Transportation—F. E. Boothby, Portland; N. G. Jackson, Bath; S. J. Foster, Oakland.

Among the things that Prof. Sprague suggests to promote the "Maine 1920" campaign are:

1. See to it that your own town has an active improvement society and that all the pushers belong to it.

2. Get every social, civic and literary club to devote one meeting each year to the subject of Maine, 1920, and immediate local betterment.

3. Hold a rally with a "feed" of some kind of all the local organizations in the interest of civic betterment, and see to it that something is undertaken.

4. Better sidewalks—let the old colonial dirt sidewalks in our cities and villages be forever abandoned before "1920." It is not poverty but tradition that keeps these relics of pioneer life. Hundreds of villages in the Middle West allow no sidewalks to be laid except cement or stone, and they are accordingly getting systems of walks worthy of our civilization.

Dusty streets must also yield to the demand for sanitary condition. No other rich people of the world endures such conditions of dust as we Americans. Mud is bad, but not deadly; however, the construction of modern streets will overcome both difficulties to a great extent.

5. Lay out all new streets only on approved, modern plans which will, especially in the case of residence streets, greatly increase their value in the future. These should have wide parkways between the roads and sidewalks, with narrow driveways in order to prevent dust and permit decoration along the sides. We too often plan our residence streets as if they were commercial highways, and thus increase the cost, mud and dust, and decrease the beauty and value.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Old fashioned poetry, but oh, so good.
—Frank Walton.

Down in the Valley of Pain

My road lay over the Hills of Joy,
Where the springs of laughter flow;
And I sang and I danced in my careless glee,
And I ate of the feast that was spread for me,
In the sunshine's wonderful glow.

Oh, the beautiful, beautiful Hills of Joy,
Where pleasure and happiness reign!
The sojourners there give scarce a sigh,
To those who live down in the vale hard by—
Down in the Valley of Pain.

My road led over the Hills of Joy,
And—down to the barren plain!
But flowers and fruits grow thick in the way,
And I never knew, till, slack one day,
I was down in the Valley of Pain!

Oh, the hunger of hearts in that desolate vale,
Whose hours are a tortuous chain!
The days are lonely, the nights are long,
There is no little sunshine, no little song;
Down in the Valley of Pain.

And ever I looked toward the Hills of Joy
For a word or a token of cheer;
But they said—"who dwells in the Valley of Pain—
"You will listen and watch and wait in vain,
They forget that we live so near."

A few who had lodged in the shadowy vale,
Bade us to hope and be brave;
But stout hearts sickened and the breath
Of doubt and darkness, despair and death,
In the face of an open grave.

And I said, as I traversed that horrible place,
"If those heights I should ever regain,
Comfort and beauty and song and flowers
Shall grace and gladden the weary hours
Down in the Valley of Pain."

Again I am climbing the Hills of Joy,
And this terrible truth grows plain:
Sympathy dies when we near our goal,
For I am forgetting those suffering souls
Down in the Valley of Pain!

The E. R. Spear house on Beech street has been painted.

The Scottish Rite meeting planned for today has been postponed.

W. L. Cleaves has moved into the Shaw house on Rockland street.

Two notable events in Rockland's history next week—the dedication of Masonic Temple Monday, and the Elks' ball Friday.

The street department has been doing an extensive job of grading the street above Broadway and grading Cedar street.

Forest fires recently swept over a wide area near Kingston, R. I., destroying all but the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Dart (formerly Miss Adelaide Crocker of Rockland).

Carpenters got afraid of Dreamland Theatre yesterday and are tearing down that structure in the interests of the new theatre which is to rise on that and the adjoining lot.

The marriage of Jacob Green of Malden, Mass., and Miss Lena Koritsky of this city will take place in Grand Army hall this evening. Invitations have been issued to a limited number of friends.

C. F. Simmons' residence on Middle street is undergoing repairs and improvements, and the lawn is being graded. The president of the Board of Trade displays a proper amount of civic pride.

Henry Gardner, who has been stationed at Portland in the employ of the Standard Oil Co., has been transferred to this city to assist Manager Stryker and establish the new service among the islands.

J. C. Berry has just completed at Dynamite Beach a summer cottage for Mrs. Lorena P. Simmons of Dedham, Mass., who will arrive there the first of June to occupy it for the season. The cottage is viewed with much admiration by all who see it, and is a decided credit to the builder.

Several members of Bath Lodge of Elks are planning to attend the annual concert and ball of Rockland Lodge, B. P. O. E., May 26. Brigham's orchestra of Marlboro, Mass., which is pleasantly remembered on account of the delightful music furnished at a pop concert in this city, has been engaged to furnish music.—Bath Times.

A. T. Whittier of Summer street, who was present at the Quarter Century traveling men's banquet in Portland last week, has the distinction of having traveled longer than one hour than any other man in New England. He commenced 45 years ago for the firm for which he now efficiently labors. That looks like living satisfaction.

Mrs. Fannie C. Davis and son George have recently bought and taken possession of the Oscar Tolman lunch room on Sea street. Mr. Davis was formerly purser on the Bluehill line, and has a wide acquaintance among the steamboat hands and traveling public, and this will doubtless be a contributing factor in the success of the new caterers.

A young traveling salesman upon whose upper lip there is developing a cute little moustache that matches his dear little pink cheeks, sat at the dining table in the hotel of a neighboring town a few nights ago, running Rockland to the lowest notch. This, however, did not prevent him from coming to this city next day and soliciting business. Don't mind him; he's new—and fresh.

Wednesday night, "Night of Mystery," at Rockland Theatre. Valuable presents will be given away.

Charles Kiffe is building a garage near his cottage at Holiday Beach.

Carpenters are repairing the damage done to L. W. Benner's house on North Main street, caused by the recent fire.

Chester Johnson has returned from Lynn, Mass., where he has been spending the winter, and is day clerk at the White Front lunch room. A. L. Cross is night clerk there.

Painters are now in charge of Talbot block, which will look even more magnificent after the finishing touches have been administered. The W. H. Glover Co. has the contract.

Fred L. Cheyne, one of the city teamsters, is wearing a handsome gold ring, presented to him on his 33d birthday, which he recently observed. His many friends hope it will prove a mascot.

J. R. Flye is mourning the demise of his cat "Bub," which departed earthly life last Friday, at the extreme old age of 22 years. It is doubtful if there is another cat in Knox county so well advanced in years.

The Weather Bureau gave us a very fine exhibition of Northern lights Sunday night. Now if it would only squall down a steady juicy rainstorm we would be willing to forego the calcium light effect for a while.

There is no change in relation to the granite strike at Long Cove. Hon. Thomas J. Lyons, clerk in the bureau of industrial and labor statistics, visited the little granite community last week in the interests of the department, but the favorable moment for arbitration has apparently not arrived. It is unfortunate that there should be this trouble at a busy season of the year.

Summer schools for teachers, particularly designed to aid rural school teachers, will be held from July 10 to 21 at Gorham, Farmington, Castine and Machias. The two weeks' program of each of the rural school summer institutes will be devoted exclusively to a study of the common school branches with the methods of teaching them, together with a study of rural school management and administration.

The last meeting until October of the Knox County Ministerial Association was held yesterday forenoon in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Rev. Russell Woodman was elected moderator to fill out the unexpired term of Rev. B. P. Judd. Rev. W. O. Holman read a paper on "The Authority of the Bible," which was highly commended by every minister present. A sound, sane, scholarly, up-to-date, and every way satisfactory.

The closing meeting of the season of the Baptist Men's League occurs tomorrow evening, with banquet at 6.30 as usual. The sessions will resume next October. With view to ending another successful season the committee on entertainment has arranged for a program that cannot fail to greatly please. This will be made up by Miss Alice Crawford Snow, talented reader, Charles Pendleton, baritone, and Miss Faith Greenhalgh, pianist.

The Board of Health organized Saturday, with L. W. Benner as chairman and Dr. J. W. Wilde as secretary. It was voted to instruct marketmen to have their perishable goods or any foodstuff which has a tendency to collect germs so covered or protected as to insure cleanliness or safety. Several dealers had already done this on their own hook, and others will when they learn how their patrons feel about it. A disregard of this law will also mean trouble with the Board of Health.

The next meeting of Pleasant Valley Grange will be held Friday. The business meeting will be called at 3 o'clock. All members are requested to be present at 2.30, prepared to sew. The time for supper has been changed from 6 to 6.30 o'clock in order that persons wishing to take that car may be able to sit at the first table with the others. After supper a short entertainment will be given, followed by a social dance. These circles have become very popular and are largely attended. A circle fair will be held June 2, with music by Farnham.

This matter of a design for the soldiers' and sailors' monument was left Friday night to the sub-committee on location, which comprises E. A. Butler and W. P. Hurley, representing the Post, W. T. Cobb and Mayor Belthien, representing the city, and Col. E. K. Gould, representing the Sons of Veterans. This committee met yesterday and voted to solicit designs. It is probable that an expert will be brought here to view the premises, for location and surroundings have much to do with the style of such a memorial. Views as informally expressed thus far are pretty generally adverse to the figure of a soldier, because of the commonness of that style throughout the country, and because it does not include a proper recognition of the important part paid by the navy in our great Civil War. There is a prevailing sentiment in favor of some form of memorial which shall be a tribute to infantry, cavalry, artillery and navy. However, the above committee can be depended upon to make a wise choice.

The Eastern Star Sewing Circle has a sale and entertainment in Temple hall this afternoon and evening for the benefit of a boy whom it is helping maintain at Good Will Farm. The sale includes cakes, candy, aprons and fancy articles. The members are keeping the nature of this evening's entertainment a secret. Go yourself and see. Doing so you will aid a good cause.

The Congregational ladies have a rummage sale in the middle store in the Spear block, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 17 and 18. Some very fine bargains will be offered. 37*39

Frank Richards, fireman for the Street Railway, came in contact with a live wire while working on a trolley pole, at the Brook this morning, and his hands were badly burned. He was taken to Knox hospital.

Spear, the sweet-pea king, planted, hoed and picked sweet peas Saturday, but it goes without saying that the vines in blossom grow indoors. Mr. Spear has 3500 feet of sweet peas planted, including some of the famous Spencer varieties.

Work has commenced on the foundations of the small towers which are to mark the naval trial course. One tower is to be erected near the windmill back of the Smith homestead, Crescent Beach between Post hill. The others are to be erected on Sheep and Monroe islands.

Members of the Eastern Star desiring to be present at the opening session of the Grand Chapter in Bangor next Tuesday will take the boat leaving Camden at 12.30 p. m., Monday, arriving at 7 o'clock. Take the 11.10 a. m. car out of Rockland to connect. Special rates have been secured on the boat.

The Alford's Lake Fish and Game Association has been invited to attend the annual outing of the Maine Sportsmen's Fish and Game Association at Kineo July 3 and 4. Interesting special features are being arranged, with prizes for shooting in contests of 200 and 800 yards.

County Attorney Howard is much incensed with the present method of sweeping the Main street pavement, and states that he would feel like having the city indicted if complaints are made to him. "Why don't they sprinkle the street before sweeping, the way they do in other cities?" asks Mr. Howard.

Funeral services of the late Abbott L. Richardson were held at his home on Granite street Saturday afternoon, Rev. W. J. Day officiating. There was a very large attendance including delegations from the Masonic and Odd Fellows bodies to which he belonged and the Modern Woodmen. Among the many floral offerings were several large and beautiful designs. The pallbearers were Harry W. French, A. C. Hamilton, Capt. George Horton and Fenns St. Clair. Interment at Sea View cemetery.

John L. Beaton, brakeman on the Limerock Railroad, was knocked from the side of a freight car by the projecting arm of a telephone pole, near the Perry store at the Northend, Saturday afternoon. In his fall he struck crosswise of the trestlework railing with such force as to break the top rail. The skin was badly torn on one of his legs, and he was greatly bruised and somewhat dizzy and brittle. He had just struck a vigorous blow with the axe when the limb snapped in two, one section striking him across the bridge of the nose and the right eye. The iris was punctured, and the breaking of a blood vessel caused the eye to fill with blood. A hasty message was sent to Dr. H. E. Gribbin, who came immediately in his motor car and conveyed Mr. Burpee to Knox hospital.

This prompt measure saved the eye, something which would have not been possible if the blood had been permitted to coagulate. Mr. Burpee is able to be about, but reading and work are tabooed until the injured eye has fully recovered.

Painting Time

Is your home or other building taking on that faded, "seen-better-days" appearance that reminds you that a new coat of color is due?—Time to call in a painter and arrange for repainting.

But this time get a lasting painting—a paint that will keep its brightness and beauty years longer than ordinary paint, and that will fail gradually, leaving a smooth, even, "paintable" surface.

Lowe Brothers

"High Standard" Paint

Gives Best Results

It is ready-to-use, thus saving painter's time and making sure that the mixing is mechanically right. "HIGH STANDARD" PAINT is made of materials a third-of-a-century of paint-making experience has proven to be right, scientifically mixed and ground to a wonderful fineness. Unequalled in covering power, spreading capacity, beauty, wearing quality—and proved to be most economical.

There is a Lowe Brothers paint for every requirement. Besides "HIGH STANDARD" LIQUID PAINT, there is a Lowe Brothers Interior Enamel for woodwork and walls; Hard Drying Floor Paint for floors; Varnish for floors, woodwork, "Little Blue Flag" Varnish, etc.

WILL REAFFIRM PROHIBITION

Yet There Are Some Elements Which Did Not Figure in 1884, Says Secretary Owen.

Liquor saloons in the "open" counties will be allowed plenty of latitude until a short time before the special September election, and then the most drastic kind of enforcement will be put into effect until the voters have had a chance to register their opinion on the prohibitory amendment.

This is the plan according to Rev. C. E. Owen of the Christian Civic League, who was here Tuesday. "The purpose of such a system," said Mr. Owen, "is obviously to disgust certain voters who do not care for license but who vote for it in preference to the radical kind of enforcement that is wanted."

"The prohibitory amendment will be reaffirmed, unless the temperance people underestimate the opposition and fail to register their full strength at the polls."

There are certain conditions which the advocates of prohibition did not have to contend with when the question was last voted upon in 1884. For instance, there will be within our borders between now and election time between 200,000 and 300,000 summer visitors, most of whom come from license localities.

"What will be their influence? Will they tell the anxious Maine voter that a license system is preferable, or will they swing their influence toward having a prohibitory law in the state where they have elected to spend their summers?"

"Another thing to be considered is the rapid growth of the foreign element incidental to the industrial strides which Maine has been making in 27 years. Many of them will naturally cling to the customs which obtained in their native country."

"Party lines will not be drawn in this election. I look for many Democrats to vote and work in favor of prohibition."

He declared conditions good in Aroostook, Somerset, Washington, Franklin, Oxford, Lincoln and York counties, and alleged little attempt at enforcement in Androscoggin, Cumberland, Kennebec and Knox counties.

One Big Fool

But He Doesn't Live in Rockland Nor Read the Courier-Gazette.

A man in Connecticut gave a doctor, a specialist in catarrh, $50 to cure him of this common yet most obnoxious disease.

The specialist gave him a bottle of medicine and told him to use it.

The fool took the medicine home, took one dose, put it on the shelf and made no further effort to follow instructions.

Three months later with the medicine still on the shelf a friend of the specialist was a fake; that he had paid him $50 and still had catarrh.

HYOMEI (pronounce it High-ome) won't cure catarrh if you don't breathe it; it will if you breathe it regularly.

Furthermore, you don't need to give a catarrh specialist $50 to cure you of catarrh, for the specialist is yet to be born who can write a better prescription than HYOMEI.

C. H. Pendleton and W. H. Kittredge and druggists everywhere have HYOMEI to cure catarrh of money back. A complete outfit which consists of a bottle of HYOMEI, a hard rubber inhaler and simple instructions for use costs only $1.00. Separate bottles of HYOMEI if afterwards needed cost but 50 cents.

Mrs. John Bradford was a week-end guest of her cousins, Flora and Nelson Fish.

ALL OUT OF SORTS.

Has Any Rockland Person Never Felt That Way.

Feeling all out of sorts

Tired, Blue, Irritable, Nervous?

Back feel lame and achy

That's the story of sick kidneys—

Bad blood circulating about;

Uric acid poisoning the body.

Just one way to feel right again,

Cure the sluggish kidneys;

Do it with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Doan's have cured many Rockland people.

Here's one case.

Mrs. L. C. Rollins, 602 Main St., Rockland, Me., says: "I am never without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills in the house and find a few doses now and then relieve me and keep my kidneys in good working order. In 1908 I was taken sick and confined to my bed for several months. When I recovered I found that my kidneys were weak. My back ached terribly and I often felt miserable. My mother had used Doan's Kidney Pills and successfully she advised me to try them. I did so, procuring them from Pendleton's drug store and I had taken but a few doses before I felt relief. Continued use completely cured me. On several occasions since then I have taken this remedy and am glad to say that it has always brought me prompt relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DUTCH NECK

Mrs. Mary A. Winslow of Nobleboro, wife of Edwin Winslow, and sister to Roscoe Gross of Waldoboro, died Saturday.

Mrs. Winslow was the only daughter of the late William Gross of Dutch Neck. She has many friends in this place whose sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

It is very dry in this locality. Some farmers are hauling water from wells on unoccupied farms. Indeed, if it were not for this source of supply there would be a water famine.

Mrs. Frank Creamer and son Floyd were in Rockland Monday.

Frank N. Creamer has purchased a new grocery wagon.

We learn that Mrs. Robert Winchenbaugh is very sick with pneumonia in Massachusetts. Her daughter, Sadie E., is also reported ill.

Dr. George F. Coombs left a baby boy with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Simons, Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Tucker has arrived with his family and will board with Hudson B. Stahl until the arrival of his furniture. He preached at St. Paul's school Sunday and made a very favorable impression.

Austin Wallace has the foundation for his new house nearly completed.

John Burns of Bay View was in this place Sunday.

Mrs. Edna Winchenbaugh of Damariscotta was at Clinton Gross' Sunday.

George W. Gross has completed shingling the roof of his house.

John Winchenbaugh has built a cistern in his cellar. Alden Creamer did the job.

Llewellyn Cotton is at home.

Mrs. Alice French and family are seated at the farm recently purchased by Harold French of George D. Hamant. Mr. French is planning to make extensive improvements on the house this summer. Lumber for the veranda has been ordered from Dayton, Ohio.

Frank A. Perry, Jr., Strout Agent, sold the Moses Hoch place near Winslow's Mills in less than a week after being placed in his hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Burnes were at John Rines' at East Waldoboro Sunday.

Newell Mank, who was the lowest bidder for the care of the town's poor, has nearly all of them at his residence at West Waldoboro. He engaged board for some of them where they have been placed for the past few years. This method of caring for the poor to the lowest bidder is an anomaly but if it works well it will be a great saving to the town.

Foley's Kidney Remedy Acted Quickly

M. N. George, Irondale, Ala., "was bothered with kidney trouble for many years. I was persuaded to try Foley's Kidney Remedy, and before taking it three days I could feel its beneficial effects. The pain left my back, my kidney action cleared up, and I am so much better I do not hesitate to recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy."

ASH POINT

The scholars at Ash Point gave an entertainment at the school house Tuesday evening which was well attended, the affair being in charge of Miss Bernice Stanton.

The Ash Point Seaside Club met Tuesday afternoon with Miss Florence Witham, and a great deal of work was accomplished. The treasurer, Miss Marion Dyer, was absent on account of ill-health, and at the suggestion of her physician has gone to the interior of the state for an indefinite stay. Miss Loureusa Mullin succeeds her as treasurer. The afternoon program included two vocal solos by Miss Lou Foster and a soprano solo by Miss Annabelle Hurd. Miss Ruby Thorndike was admitted to membership. The club voted to start a bank account. The next meeting will be with Loureusa Mullin, May 16.

Combination Coal and Gas Crawford Ranges

The Crawford Gas Ovens are safe. They are lighted in a new way; there is no dangerous pilot light and explosions are impossible. This improvement is patented and very important.

The Damper is automatically opened by opening oven door to light the burners, which cannot be lighted until the door is opened.

In these Gas Ovens there is an extra set of burners at the top for broiling; a great advantage over the ordinary gas oven, insuring better broiling and great convenience.

The Oven Bottoms and Racks are cast iron, and the outer walls are triple—an interlining of asbestos between two sheets of iron, which assists to retain the heat.

The use of these Gas Ovens does not interfere in any way with the operation of the coal range—both can be used at the same time.

THE LAW ON SMELTS

Dipping Not Permitted After the First of May—Can Catch Them With Hook and Line.

The law which provides that residents of the state may dip for smelts in certain tidal waters, during the month of April, but may only catch them with hook and line thereafter, together with the clause prohibiting their sale or shipment from the state if caught during that period, creates a great deal of misunderstanding every spring. As a matter of fact, the fish taken are in such a condition that it is extremely doubtful if they would be fit to eat 24 hours after catching, even if kept on ice. Cases have occurred recently, in which those who ate these smelts a few hours after being caught, perhaps 12, were made seriously ill by their indulgence and fishermen generally are shy of them unless cooked very soon after being taken from the water.

The latest law passed, affecting this fishery, was in the Public Laws of 1909 where in chapter 165, Sec. 4 of Ch. 44 of the Revised Statutes, is amended. This section provides that "No smelts shall be taken or fished for in tidal waters, except by hook or line, between the first day of April and October, under a penalty of not less than ten nor more than $50 . . . provided, however, that dip nets may be used between the first day of April and the first day of May, and all smelts caught by dip nets between said days may be lawfully offered for sale and sold in this state, provided, further, . . . that this section does not apply to smelts taken in . . . the Penobscot river and its tributaries between the first and 30th day of April, etc.

WANTED: A LIGHTSHIP

It is generally believed by steamboat men in the vicinity of Monhegan that the request forwarded to government officials for a lightship to take the place of the whistling buoy off the island will be granted. The petition is said to be a very strong one. Owing to peculiar freaks of wind steamboat men and vessel masters in general complain that it is often hard to pick up the whistling buoy on a dark night until very near, whereas with a lightship equipped with a fog trumpet the spot would be easily marked. A note at this point in the petition to the navigators of the Boston and Bangor steamers and to thousands of sailing masters who pass there annually.

IT GROWS HAIR

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Fred H. Call, Main street, Rockland.

Is there anything in all this world that is of more importance to you than good digestion? Food must be eaten to sustain life and must be digested and converted into blood. When the digestion fails the whole body suffers. Chamberlain's Tablets are a rational and reliable cure for indigestion. They increase the flow of bile, purify the blood, strengthen the stomach, and tone up the whole digestive apparatus to a natural and healthy action. For sale by Norcross Drug Stores and W. H. Kirtledge, Druggists.

"I have been somewhat constipated, but Chamberlain's Tablets gave me just the results desired. They act mildly and regulate the bowels perfectly." George H. Krause, 36 Walnut Ave., Altoona, Pa.

OUR VETERAN HORSEMEN

Turner Tells About H. M. Bean, Who Drove Such Speedy Ones as Veni Vici, Kalala and Kassali.

The next figure in our drama hardly requires an introduction to our readers for but few men have been better known upon the Maine turf for the past quarter century than has H. M. Bean of Camden. In fact, Camden's hero scarcely needs an introduction to the readers of any journal, for his fame as a builder of fine sailing ships has brought his name into national recognition. Associated with the business nearly all his life, first as a day laborer and finally one of the largest contractors in the trade, the Camden man has gained a reputation second to none of his craft. That Mr. Bean is a self-made man and a giant in his day, we need only be reminded that when he first threw off his coat in a Camden ship-yard a broad axe is said to have constituted the extent of his capital. But it is of our veteran's exploits with the speed horse that the writer has to do. While not a professional horseman in the true sense, Mr. Bean's steps upon the harness turf are plainly marked and hardly a page of his equine history but shows sturdy horsemanship. The most remarkable thing about his turf career is the beginning, which was purely accidental. Mr. Bean assures us that he had no intention of entering the game until, in scouting about for horses to do his driving he happened to stumble upon what proved to be trotters.

The first horse of this kind was McLain, which was bred by the late Alvin McLain, a well-known old hand. Mr. Bean bought him of Capt. A. F. Crockett for $150, a very modest sum indeed for a future free-for-all, which the horse turned out to be. In his new owner's hands, he rapidly improved in speed, and was campaigned by him for several seasons, winning many races and obtaining a mark of 2:32 1/4, fast time for those days back in the eighties. One feature of this horse, and a trait which has distinguished nearly all of Mr. Bean's pupils ever since, was his stamina; when the heats were split McLain always won.

Our shipbuilder's most notable transaction of the kind occurred in Bangor, when he bought a large brood gelding afterwards known as Romulus. This horse was by Judge Advocate, and purchased ostensibly for driving purposes—but like McLain, he, too, was a fast horse. He was heading the swiftest trotters of the day at the time. After proving victories on nearly every field, and gaining a record of 2:23 1/4, Romulus was sold for a very large price. Although this impressive going trotter failed to make good after leaving "quiet Camden by the sea," his memory still lingers with those who knew him here. Some interesting stories could be told in connection with the racing of these horses, and the writer has the pleasure of placing some of those old-time scenes before our readers.

We will here say that, about 1893, Mr. Bean had the great misfortune to lose his son, Milla, a young man who had driven his father's horses in their races. The writer remembers "Milly Bean," as he was called and how his skillful work behind McLain, Romulus and other horses had endeared him to the most popular reinsmen of the time.

Somewhat over twenty years ago we see our Camden man wending his way southward to Kentucky, that nursery of the harness horse, with the Wilkes colt Veni Vici (I came, I conquered), a horse that was aptly named, and the gamest trotter that ever disputed a heat in Maine. "Veni Vici" was a real winner, and the pleasure of knowing this horse may wonder at the indelible prefix attached to his name; but those who have seen him race never question the title, and even of the latter only a few are aware of the tremendous odds which the brave and courageous horse struggled. Could Veni Vici have been the real Veni Vici for which he was ordered, no trotter that ever lived within the confines of Maine could have beaten him a race of heats.

And also to stop that bald spot from growing larger; to stop itching scalp and falling hair, or money back. Parisian Sage will drive every particle of dandruff from your scalp, because it penetrates into the scalp and kills the dandruff germs which are the cause of all hair diseases. It is a most beneficial hair dressing and hair beautifier, not sticky or greasy and is used by women of refinement the country over. Large bottle 50 cents.

"Parisian Sage is the best hair tonic and hair grower I ever used. It is a grand dandruff cure and scalp cleaner, and also cures itching scalp."—Mrs. Little Davis, R. F. D. No. 7, Flint, Mich., June 20, 1910.

Scene From "The Rosary," at Rock and Theatre, Thursday, May 18.

the last man has passed away who ever saw him step.

Veni Vici's mark was 2:21 1/4, obtained in 1895, and could his value as a sire be realized before he joined the ranks of geldings, and his life been spared, his progeny would have proved of unestimable value. He got four colts, and they were all trotters.

Camden Boy, the fastest record trotter in the state, was ever bred in Knox county, was a sterling race horse, one that asked concessions from none, not even from the mighty Kremlin showed to advantage; then he would bend all his powers to outdo his rivals, and it was a good one indeed that stood him off at the wire. Split heats were his specialty, and at his part of the game he was seldom beaten.

R. L. Bean who has driven these horses and others has proven himself a capable man in the sulky. During the past ten years he has been frequently pitted against the foremost of Maine's professional reinsmen, and we never knew of him having anything on the Camden casher. The remarkable races which he drove Tony D. are fresh to the minds of all.

In conclusion we wish to say that H. M. Bean's turf history shows him to be a naturally adept horseman. The fact of his developing McLain and Romulus into two of the most successful trotters of the day, and this without any previous experience or knowledge of the business is a greater tribute to his ability as a trainer than any words which might be spoken.

But more than this, Mr. Bean has shown himself a clean turfman, and when he finally quits the arena he will leave an unblemished memory behind. Many and honorable methods have characterized his indulgence in the sport. His drivers have always been of strictured to drive fairly, and jobs and pool-box work have been strangers in his career. The advancement and future welfare of the trotting turf rests upon the support of such as our Camden man, rather than upon the gamblers and tricksters of the game. May H. M. Bean long live to enjoy the fruits of his labors, and in his turf ventures of the future may the Goddess of Fortune smile upon him as she has in the past.—H. L. Turner of Union in Turf, Farm and Home.

The retirement of Veni Vici and Kalala marked a lull in the Camden man's turf activities, but with the return of his son, Robert Bean, from the far West, they commenced anew. R. L. Bean brought with him a pacing colt called Doctro, of the Dictator family; and early in the morning of the twentieth century the turf banner of the West, they commenced anew. May H. M. Bean long live to enjoy the fruits of his labors, and in his turf ventures of the future may the Goddess of Fortune smile upon him as she has in the past.—H. L. Turner of Union in Turf, Farm and Home.

In this article we can only give an idea of what they have done. Doctro was race two seasons, and proved one of the best pacers in Maine, obtaining a mark of 2:16 1/4. Then came the fast pacers, Wilson, Blanche B. and Belle Perrin, which were raced more or less. The trotter Elmont showed fairly well, and the very fast pacing colt, Charles M. Vantrump, purchased as a yearling, won nearly every colt race given in Maine during 1907 and 1908.

But the noblest of Mr. Bean's horses during the last decade was the brown gelding Kassali, 2:20 1/4, by Kremlin. Dear old, unpretentious, mild eyed Kassali! This horse was purchased by Mr. Bean some seven years ago, and ever since has enjoyed the reputation of being the best trotter in Knox county. He has started in many races, and never failed to be a factor. A rather plain horse of modest demeanor, we have often noticed him as he came out for a race, apparently unconscious of his surroundings. It was not until the word was given that the son of the mighty Kremlin showed to advantage; then he would bend all his powers to outdo his rivals, and it was a good one indeed that stood him off at the wire. Split heats were his specialty, and at his part of the game he was seldom beaten.

The remarkable races which he drove Tony D. are fresh to the minds of all.

In conclusion we wish to say that H. M. Bean's turf history shows him to be a naturally adept horseman. The fact of his developing McLain and Romulus into two of the most successful trotters of the day, and this without any previous experience or knowledge of the business is a greater tribute to his ability as a trainer than any words which might be spoken.

But more than this, Mr. Bean has shown himself a clean turfman, and when he finally quits the arena he will leave an unblemished memory behind. Many and honorable methods have characterized his indulgence in the sport. His drivers have always been of strictured to drive fairly, and jobs and pool-box work have been strangers in his career. The advancement and future welfare of the trotting turf rests upon the support of such as our Camden man, rather than upon the gamblers and tricksters of the game. May H. M. Bean long live to enjoy the fruits of his labors, and in his turf ventures of the future may the Goddess of Fortune smile upon him as she has in the past.—H. L. Turner of Union in Turf, Farm and Home.

In this article we can only give an idea of what they have done. Doctro was race two seasons, and proved one of the best pacers in Maine, obtaining a mark of 2:16 1/4. Then came the fast pacers, Wilson, Blanche B. and Belle Perrin, which were raced more or less. The trotter Elmont showed fairly well, and the very fast pacing colt, Charles M. Vantrump, purchased as a yearling, won nearly every colt race given in Maine during 1907 and 1908.

But the noblest of Mr. Bean's horses during the last decade was the brown gelding Kassali, 2:20 1/4, by Kremlin. Dear old, unpretentious, mild eyed Kassali! This horse was purchased by Mr. Bean some seven years ago, and ever since has enjoyed the reputation of being the best trotter in Knox county. He has started in many races, and never failed to be a factor. A rather plain horse of modest demeanor, we have often noticed him as he came out for a race, apparently unconscious of his surroundings. It was not until the word was given that the son of the mighty Kremlin showed to advantage; then he would bend all his powers to outdo his rivals, and it was a good one indeed that stood him off at the wire. Split heats were his specialty, and at his part of the game

The ice cream tables and the foxie counter, "The Opera House" and "Red Riding Hood's Rescue" under the direction of Misses Nettie Sampson and Vidie Gardner was worthy of the hearty applause with which it was greeted.

One of the prettiest scenes was the "grandmother" at the spinning wheel, part being taken by Nellie Trenholm. Another scene which brought down the house, was when the "wolf"—Fred Linnell—pulled the night cap from under the pillow, and after tying it on his head, jumped into bed.

Little Red Riding Hood would have been eaten up entirely had not the "woodman"—Edward Newcombe—appeared with his axe in the nick of time and felled the blood-thirsty wolf with one blow.

Miss June Andrews as "Mama" and Ada Mark as "Red Riding Hood," received much applause, and the minor parts were well taken.

One of the hits of the evening was little Alfred Stuart and his Pony song. Credit is due Miss Helen Robinson, principal of the school and her assistants, for the success of the fair.

Mrs. Carrie Thomas of Boston arrived Saturday morning and will be the guest of her father, John D. Morse, for three weeks.

Capt. J. E. Creighton of Sch. Harwood Palmer, was home a few days last week.

Oliver—Irvine

Miss Mary H. Irvine, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Irvine and Rev. Albert I. Oliver, newly appointed pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in town, were married at the home of the bride on Hyler street Friday evening, May 12, by Rev. C. A. Plumer, the double ring service being used.

Rev. J. H. Irvine, father of the bride, who is at present located at Milford, Utah, sent the marriage certificate, executed by himself, for use in the ceremony.

The bride wore white messaline, trimmed with Irish lace, crystal ornaments and carried a shower bouquet of roses.

The bridal veil was caught with flowers from the Martha Washington garden, Virginia.

Miss Eva M. Irvine of Bangor, sister of the bride was bridesmaid and wore pale green silk and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Clarence A. Oliver of Cliffondale, Mass., brother of the groom, was best man, and Athill Irvine, ring bearer.

The wedding march was played by Paul Irvine of Kents Hill. Miss Irvine is a graduate of Kents Hill, and has since been instructor of music at the academy. Mr. Oliver is a graduate of Boston University, class of '99 and has recently returned as pastor at Kents Hill. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. In the parlor where the ceremony was performed, was an arch of evergreen and maiden-hair fern interlaced with roses and carnations, from which was suspended a wedding bell. The floral decorations were under the direction of Mrs. J. L. Brockway, sister of the bride and were from the Brockway greenhouses at Foxcroft. A number out of town friends attended the wedding among them being Albert A. Oliver of East Saugus, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Oliver of Cliffondale, Mass., Prof. and Mrs. W. F. Morse, Miss Luella J. Gilbert and Miss Olivia Billington of Kents Hill and Miss Lathrine of Lewiston.

Among the wedding presents, which included choice pieces of cut glass, silver, china and linen, was a beautiful anniversary clock, which is wound only once a year. Following the ceremony, a reception was given in the church parlors by members of the church and society. Musical selections were rendered by the Misses Alice Young, Ida Colley, Sophronia Merriam and Lee Walker and John Edgerton. Ice cream and cake were served, and a social hour enjoyed.

"The Thief"—At Camden Opera House, Thursday, May 18.

After the reception the newly married couple left in an automobile amid a shower of rice, and after a short wedding trip will make their home in Thomaston.

DEBORAH W. COBB

After a week's illness Deborah (Robbins) Cobb died peacefully at an early hour last Saturday morning in her 84th year. Practically no suffering was experienced during the brief illness, each day being marked by the same calm and serenity that was always apparent in her life.

Deceased was the daughter of Willard R. and Deborah (Moody) Robbins and was born in Searsport July 19, 1828, being the third of a family of ten children.

She was the widow of the late Alden M. Cobb, and to his loving companionship was added an ideal home life. Her tastes were simple, not caring for society in its large sense, but ever living to love and help wherever she could, and many have been the kind ministrations meted out by her to those who needed such.

To this union three children were born, the survivors being Mrs. William R. Feyler of Thomaston and Mrs. Alice A. Tibbetts of this city. A third daughter, Elizabeth, passed away when a child.

Also left are seven grandchildren, two of them, Mrs. Eva Marsh and Mrs. J. V. Bowker, being quite as near in her affections as her own children, her home having been their ever since childhood.

The brothers and sisters left are William Moody and Adelbert P. Robbins of Union, Nathaniel A. of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. A. P. Sprague of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Deceased had been for a good many years a faithful member of the Thomaston Methodist church. Services will be held from the family residence this Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and in the absence of the regular pastor, will be conducted by Rev. C. A. Plumer of Thomaston and Rev. Mr. Garland of the Rockland Methodist church. Interment will be in the family lot in Warren.

Miss Sigua Ahl, 2 Farwell street, Worcester, Mass., writes: "Parisian Sage was the only hair tonic that will surely dandruff, clean the scalp and make the hair grow long and beautiful." G. I. Robinson Drug Co. guarantees Parisian Sage. 50 cents.

Deafness caused by catarrh can be greatly benefited by breathing Hyomee. Complete outfit $1.00 at G. I. Robinson Drug Co. Guaranteed for catarrh, coughs, colds, asthma.

NORTH WARREN

Winifred K., wife of Melville R. Stevens, passed away Friday morning, May 12, at the age of 63 years. Her illness extending through many months was borne with great courage and patience.

Mrs. Stevens possessed a kindly, sympathetic nature, ever thoughtful of others. Many in this vicinity have reason to be grateful for her assistance, so willingly given at times when sickness and death visited their homes.

She was a successful school teacher in her younger days and has taught many terms in this and surrounding towns.

The deceased leaves a husband and two children, Wendell and Agnes M., also one brother, John Powers, and a sister, Mrs. George Libby, all of whom have much sympathy in their sad bereavement.

Mrs. Ida Havenor of Milford, Mass., arrived Wednesday night, called here by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Abbie Kallcho.

The annual meeting of the Progressive Literary Club was held May 8 at the residence of Mrs. Mather, Purchase street.

The members assembled promptly at 6.30 in the dining room, which was made very attractive by cut flowers, a table spread with the finest linen, upon which was arranged beautiful china and silver.

These accessories were a feast for the eyes, but the real treat was when the picnic supper was brought in, and it was quickly decided that the Club members could for a while

"Live without poetry, music and art. Think not without conscience, and not without heart."

And not without friends; yet, a while without books. But surely, they never could live without love.

After the banquet, which was in charge of Mrs. Jennie Bird, the company adjourned to the parlor where the business session was held, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Annie Simmons; vice-president, Mrs. Julia Blackington; secretary, Mrs. Annie Silsby; treasurer, Miss Kitty Coburn. The report of the secretary showed that unusual interest had attended the reading of Browning's "Ring and the Book" and although 48 meetings for reading had been held during the Club year, only half of the poem had been read, and the members are anticipating with pleasure the reading of the second half next year. The poem as a whole has been accused of inordinate length but close study shows that it is all needed for the elaboration of the characters. During the evening a spelling match was held, and a poem of merit read, entitled "The Working Woman," the production of one of the Club, which was received with hearty appreciation. The hospitality of Mrs. Mather did not cease at adjournment, as the Club was invited to "picnic" at her Crescent Beach cottage, Friday, June 10.

MRS. DODGE SENTENCED

NEWS OF THE GRANGE

Patrons of Knox Pomona Grange were royally entertained by the members of St. George Grange, May 13, its last session. The fifth degree was conferred upon a class of 18. Marching to the dining hall the members found to their delight that St. George Grange had planned to do something out of the ordinary line, when the waiter began serving a delicious clam chowder, piping hot. It was not learned who prepared this chowder but the Patrons all declared that St. George can boast of as good cooks as any Grange in Knox county. Baked beans were also served. The greater part of the afternoon was given to the program of the lecture. The question—"Are the financial affairs of our state governed with as much economy as is consistent with the best interest of our state?" was opened by J. Herbert Gould of Camden in the absence of A. O. Glover. It was pretty well threshed out by the workers of the Grange, and the members of the county felt very grateful to the members of both St. George and Martinsville for the assistance given them for the program, and the excellent dinner. The next meeting will be with Pleasant River Grange, Vinalhaven, June 7, and it might be well to carefully watch the papers and learn the plans made for transportation by the committee appointed by Pomona.

Many of the Knox county Patrons are planning to attend church in Union May 21, having received an invitation from Rev. G. P. Benner, who is a member of the order. Patrons will assemble at the Burton House at 10 o'clock, when they will clothe themselves in regalia. The march will be led by the assistant steward, followed by the officers according to rank. Seats have been reserved for their use.

WEST ROCKPORT

Mrs. Mary A. Howard, after several months' absence in Boston, is now at her summer home, the Park farm. Her many friends in this vicinity are pleased to know that she is to be with us again for the present season.

Mrs. A. M. Walsh of Warren is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Miller. Bert Keller has received 1200 strawberry plants.

Smith Maxcy, for some days past, owing to illness, has been confined to his home.

Walter Andrews, on his return from Kittery, recently brought with him two thoroughbred Holstein calves of which he is very proud, as they are of the best blood. The mother of one recently sold for $125 and the other for $100.

The writer on a trip through Union and Warren one day last week learned that Levi Merrifield of Union raised last year 300 bushels of very nice yellow corn and several hundred bushels of carrots. Farmers are learning that it is more profitable to raise than purchase their corn.

Charles Starrett of Warren is planting ten acres of potatoes.

Orbeton & Crawford have a very large supply of logs of good quality at their Warren mill.

Every one, irrespective of occupations, is anxious to see rain.

Fred Cleveland, who for some weeks past has been in Danvers, Mass., is now at his cottage bringing with him an auto.

The fields and forests are donning their summer attire of green.

The New Century Literary Club gave an entertainment in the interest of the church on Tuesday of last week, of which many kind remarks have since been made. A very satisfactory sum was raised. The following is the program:

Music by Choir. Address of Welcome. Paper—The Shepherds of the West. G. A. Miller

Solo. F. S. Philbrick. Mrs. Bert Mank

Paper—Life of Florence Nightingale. Mrs. Stewart Orbeton

Solo. Arthur Clark

Paper. Mrs. Elsie Andrews

Solo. Mrs. Miles Tupper

Address—The Treachery of Benedict Arnold. Rev. Miles Tupper

Duet. Arthur Clark, Mrs. Bert Mank

T. J. Carroll was organist.

The swallow is here for the summer and the frog is heard in the lowlands. The bobolink is expected to arrive, soon as he is just beyond the southern hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walsh of Thomaston visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Miller on Sunday last.

John H. Andrews of Rockland was the guest of his uncle and aunt on Sunday last.

Emerson Thorndike has employment in Camden as painter for Frank Thom-

Fresh from a long and successful run at the Globe Theatre in Boston Edward E. Rose's famous play, The Rosary, will be presented at the Rockland Theatre, Thursday evening, May 18. What the Portland papers say: "The first night audience was select and fairly large considering that the engagement is long for a dramatic production in Portland. The impression made by the play was very favorable and the audience was highly appreciative. Members of the Superintendent School Committee and Portland Teachers' Association to the number of about 75 were present and occupied boxes and orchestra seats as special guests of the management."

Contrary to the general idea of the play which is in the minds of those who have not seen it, it is not solemn or intensely religious. The Rosary is a beautiful prayer, or series of prayers, which are repeated in decades and the string of beads, called rosary beads, is used on which to count the separate prayers which go to make up the whole. It is a prayer or devotion peculiar to the Roman Catholic Church, and dear to the hearts of all her communicants. But the play has very little in common with the Rosary as that prayer is known to Catholics. Indeed it might be said to be almost a travesty on the Rosary. What there is of religious presentation in the play is largely overdrawn, so much so as to make it far from appealing to those who know and love the rosary. The play is a comedy drama, on the verge of melodrama, and the comedy is the best part of it.

Briefly the story of the play is this: Father Brian Kelley in his boyhood days in Ireland had a sweetheart, from whom he parted forever when he went to study for the church. Years afterward Father Kelley, a priest in New York State, finds Bruce Wilton, who is the son of the woman who in her girlhood was loved by Father Kelley, she

POINTERS FOR MOTORISTS

A Chapter Which Deals With The Prevention of Pinched Inner Tubes.

When fitting a tire, if the tube is pinched between the head of the envelope and the rim, the inevitable result is the explosion of the tube. Such explosion usually forces the head out of the clinch of the rim at the point where the rupture occurs. The inference is then drawn immediately, that the envelope did not fit properly in the first place, but this is probably not true. It is more than likely that two thicknesses of inner tube have become pinched under the toe of the bead, and that this trouble prevents the bead from fitting properly at that point.

The inevitable rupture of the tube will naturally occur at the sharp fold in its surface just below the toe of the bead. This rupture will permit the air to escape with explosive force between the outside of the bead and the inner surface of the clinch, and this explosion will drive the head out of the rim at that point. The trouble was not that the envelope was off size, which is seldom the case, but with the careless way in which the tube was fitted. Explosions as described will sometimes occur when the car is standing in the garage. In order to avoid pinching of the inner tube between the rim and the bead, the tube should be powdered well with talc before placing it inside the envelope, and it should be pushed inside the envelope carefully, after mounting the first bead, but before the second bead.

After the second bead is fitted turn wheel slowly. If any projection or unevenness of the envelope is noted, take hold of the envelope with the left hand, the palm near the bead, pushing the outer side of the envelope towards the car. Then with the thin edge of a spur lever lift the outer bead and push it slightly toward the center of the rim. If any of the inner tube is visible, it is not in proper position. In this event push the thin part of the lever under the bead and force the free end of the lever downward and release the bead at that point. Then let the bead settle back in position, being sure that the pinched tube has released itself. If the tube cannot be seen at that point, continue the examination all around the wheel. Be particularly careful in examining that portion of the bead fitted last.

The proper care of tires and tubes is fully discussed in the instruction book sent free on request by the Michelin Tire Company of Milltown, New Jersey.

"Bush" Ladd of Cleveland Team Just Getting on His Pins After Siege of Typhoid Harlow E. Browne of Warren has received the following letter from his old baseball pal, Harold Ladd, dated Huron Road Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

It is pretty tough to stay in bed for three weeks without lifting your head from the pillow. I had no nourishment in those three weeks but milk, cocoa, broth and ice cream—a pretty good diet for a healthy gink like me. It is pretty hard luck to be taken sick just at the time when I was getting along so well. Now, you see, I will have to come home, and perhaps they may give me my release for they won't want to bother with me after I get home and then I am so weak that I can't play ball before July.

Friday is the first time I have had my clothes on. It seems good I can tell you, when I first got out of bed, last Wednesday I couldn't walk a step and couldn't stand on my feet without help. Everybody has been awful good to me here. The Cleveland players send me down flowers. They are all good fellows. The pitchers are going bad now, but they will be a first division team I think. When I was in Louisville I went down to the hat factory where they make all the Louisville sluggers. It was a great sight. They had all the big fellows' models there. I am doing nicely and if nothing happens I may be with you next week.

SPORTING NOTES

The Hurricane A. C. will play North Haven high May 20 and the local boys are planning to carry home a victory. The boys have been beaten by the Haven's Stars two out of three games but still has hopes of winning the series. There are still two games to be played—and they are right after them.

Interest in the pugilistic art seems to be on the wane in some of the Maine sporting centers. At Lewiston, Tuesday night Kid Dufresne and Al Delmont were scheduled for a six-round bout, but even with that attraction there was less than $125 in the house. The management paid back the money and the bout was called off. Rockland hasn't seen a ring battle since the sailors were here, yet nobody appears to be home-sick. The fact is that six-round bouts are too apt to be a mere standoff.

John F. Daly, who played second base for Vinhaven's championship team a few years ago, was a delegate of the Knights of Columbus convention Tuesday and incidentally paid a visit to the island, where he was most cordially greeted by the fans. He is employed in the American Express office at Bangor.

Representative Frank R. Palmer of Stockbridge, Mass., has the prize flock of 100 Rhode Island Reds in Massachusetts. During the year that ended Wednesday each hen netted a profit of 15 cents a day, a total of $5,475. Charles S. Mellen, president of the New Haven Railroad, thought he had at Council Grove Farm the finest fowls in Berkshire county, but he admits his Rhode Island Reds are outclassed by Mr. Palmer's flock. Mr. Palmer is clamoring for an early adjournment of the legislature so he can attend to his settings.

AN IDEAL LOCATION

Gen. J. P. Cilley Tells Why Grand Army Lot is the Best One for the Soldiers' Monument.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette: Deep in the hearts of the citizens of Rockland is anchored a love for civic welfare. The fact was clearly shown in the discussion at the banquet of our Board of Trade at Crescent Beach. This subsoil of devotion for the beauty of our city—the city by the sea—is a foundation inviting a corresponding building. The exuberant West may boast the fertility of their soil in these words—their land only needs to be tickled by a hoe to make it laugh with a harvest. So with our subsoil, we have only to caress it with a spade and it will spring into fruition.

We now only direct the gaze of our citizens to one object of the many demanding our attention—the monument to the veterans of the "Great War," as Roosevelt calls it. Its location has been determined—the center of the Grand Army lot. The barn is to come down, the building and home of the boys is to be moved to the eastern line. A few feet north of the lot of the Post room is the center of the lot. On the altar is the open Bible, crowned by two swords. A few feet north, three times at each meeting, stands the officer of the day, and salutes the post commander. Every recurring to the Grand Army lot is the same spot with the comrades on his right and on his left—with a line of men with muskets in his rear and the commander in his front, with no archaic oath of faithful meaning but this obligation: promise this on the honor of a soldier. Could a monument to the honor of Rockland's sailors and soldiers stand on a more sacred spot? Built on such a spot; supported by the enduring foundation of the said subsoil of Rockland; with a promise of an unobstructed look towards the solid granite structure of the postoffice and custom house on the east and to the west the warm brick and the adjoining granite of the county court house, it will stand near midway between the two annually adorn both. To the southwest it will look to a church beautifully placed and wisely built. To the northwest it will look to the gem of our public library building and its ideal setting, praying that the attractive vision will never be barred and destroyed by either bricks or boards.

Let the foundation on which the monument rests; let the many waiting years have their influence; let the outlook of the Grand Army lot as hoped and planned have some weight in the matter; let the words of Webster in their wonderful aptness and power be considered. Rockland is called the Lime City. With equal appropriateness it is called the Granite City of Maine. Our lime sent out, never objectively shows whence it came. But our granite is more largely distributed and never ceases to proclaim its birthplace. See the plasters of the Treasury building in Washington so massive that the architect of that building had to send to Rockland for the men and appliances to move them from the wharf to the building. View the basement walls of the Army and Navy building in the same city. Look to the Mid-West. See Chicago and the Queen City, St. Louis which spanned the turbulent waters of the Missouri rivers with Hurricane granite; while Troy, N. Y., boasts the largest monolithic monument of the world, and this was quarried at Vinhaven.

There is much more to be said and the subject will be continued in a subsequent issue. J. P. Cilley.

FLESH-FORMING FOOD

When you buy a package of Samose, the great flesh-forming food, weigh yourself and see how much you gain in the first week's use. C. H. Pendleton will tell of many of his customers who a month or so ago were thin, pale and haggard, but who are now, through the use of Samose, plump, strong and happy, with perfect health and attractive flesh. He has seen so many instances of the wonderful power of Samose to restore the weak and sick to strength and health, and to make good natural flesh that he gives his personal guarantee with every package of Samose he sells to refund the money if it does not prove satisfactory. Samose is a pure preparation, and can be used with absolute confidence by the most delicate. It gives remarkable results with children who are weak and run down and without appetite. It builds up the thin, pale, puny girl and woman, perfect plumpness and health. It is the only flesh-forming food of its kind and in addition, it strengthens every organ of the body, restoring strength and health to the whole system.

HOME DECORATIONS

The decoration of a room may be based upon some special feature of the room—a piece of furniture, a bit of choice china, the coloring of the rug or planned to harmonize with the adjacent rooms.

WALLS—Rich, flat effects are secured by use of Flat-Tone finishes. These materials are durable, sanitary and most practical in the home. Used over the old paper, you get the color desired and a durable surface that can be washed with soap and water like the paint on the wood work.

A FLAT-TONE treatment of the old curtains makes them look like new and gives them a color to harmonize with the room.

FLOORS—By using filler stains, wax or varnishes, any shade or finish may be given. For old sort-wood floors, our floor paint or varnish stain may be used to give a lasting surface.

We have finished over 100 rooms the past few months with FLAT-TONE. The first cost is less and being durable, it's the most economical finish all around.
